Webster's bibliographic and event-based timelines are comprehensive in scope, covering virtually all topics, geographic locations and people. They do so from a linguistic point of view, and in the case of this book, the focus is on "Passport," including when used in literature (e.g. all authors that might have Passport in their name). As such, this book represents the largest compilation of timeline events associated with Passport when it is used in proper noun form. Webster's timelines cover bibliographic citations, patented inventions, as well as non-conventional and alternative meanings which capture ambiguities in usage. These furthermore cover all parts of speech (possessive, institutional usage, geographic usage) and contexts, including pop culture, the arts, social sciences (linguistics, history, geography, economics, sociology, political science), business, computer science, literature, law, medicine, psychology, mathematics, chemistry, physics, biology and other physical sciences. This "data dump" results in a comprehensive set of entries for a bibliographic and/or event-based timeline on the proper name Passport, since editorial decisions to include or exclude events is purely a linguistic process. The resulting entries are used under license or with permission, used under "fair use" conditions, used in agreement with the original authors, or are in the public domain.

Helen Butts:

As a student exactly feel bored to be able to reading. If their teacher expected them to go to the library or make summary for some book, they are complained. Just minor students that has reading's heart and soul or real their hobby. They just do what the teacher want, like asked to go to the library. They go to there but nothing reading seriously. Any students feel that studying is not important, boring as well as can't see colorful photos on there. Yeah, it is for being complicated. Book is very important in your case. As we know that on this period, many ways to get whatever we really wish for. Likewise word says, ways to reach Chinese's country. So , this Passport: Webster's Timeline History, 293 - 2007 can make you feel more interested to read.
